

Fleet Maintenance Supervisor wins 2009 Technician of the Year

August 19, 2009

FOR RELEASE AT WILL

In the attached picture, York County’s Fleet Maintenance Supervisor Denny Kincade, right, receives congratulations from Board of Supervisors Chairman Walt Zaremba for being named the Association for Equipment Management Professionals Foundation’s 2009 Technician of the Year.

Kincade has been with the county for 19 years, and currently oversees the mechanics and overall operation of the fleet maintenance and repair shop in the Fleet Support Services division of General Services.

“Denny exemplifies the characteristics of a true professional technician,” said Michael Watkins, Manager of Customer Support for John Deere Construction & Forestry. Watkins was one of the judges for the foundation’s award.

The Association of Equipment Management Professionals’ members represent many of the largest heavy equipment fleet managers, distributors and manufacturers in the world. Each year, the AEMP Foundation presents one Technician of the Year Award each to a private and public sector technician.
