Dear Chad W. Green,

I wanted to write to you to thank you and the York county team for providing the support and guidance for our recent prayer walk.

From the first call we made to you until the day of the event Brian, Mark and Kevin were extremely helpful. I can't even begin to describe the gratitude we had when we were met by Lieutenant Rossen and Deputy Robinson at the courthouse. Giving their time to escort us during the walk was incredibly generous.

As you know, gun violence is a serious concern in our community. Our church was impacted by the recent events of gun violence as I'm sure so many York county citizens were as well. We felt compelled to publicly demonstrate our faith by praying to God to protect the innocent, heal the victims, and bring change to gun violence across our nation.

We believe that as a community, we are stronger than the potential adversities that threaten our safety. Your support and assistance makes us proud to be a part of this community. Thanks again and may God bless you!

We Remain Amazed By His Grace,

Dear President Biden:

The York County Board of Supervisors supports a Presidential Pocahontas Proclamation. We believe you would be serving your country and humanity by proclaiming March 21st as an annual national day of honor for the woman most famously known as Pocahontas, a celebration of America's Indian Tribes, and a recognition of the ancient wisdom of Native, Indigenous, and First Nations peoples around the world. We are proud of our country's historical connection to Pocahontas and we embrace the concept of her being considered the Founding Mother of America. We celebrate Pocahontas as a patron of peace and cross-cultural understanding, and we see her life example as a source of inspiration for Americans of all ages.

Thank you for considering the many positive benefits inherent in the proposed Presidential Pocahontas Proclamation.

Sincerely,
