

Beale's

Yorktown,

We've been quiet about our plans for awhile now, and an update is long overdue. To everyone who has inquired and didn't hear back, we're sincerely sorry. We wanted to share more, but for reasons too complicated to explain over social media, we weren't in a place to do so.

We are officially not opening our Yorktown taproom. This has been a difficult decision to make, but we're confident it's the right one for our business. We're going to continue to focus on our Bedford taproom and distribution.

The worst part about it is disappointing you all. Since we announced our plans for the site, the Yorktown community has been incredibly welcoming and kind. We've enjoyed meeting so many of you at our beer pickups, working with those of you in the trades to complete the building, and even making friends with our neighbor churches (shout out to Pastor Joel at St Mark Lutheran!). We're so appreciative of the support you've shown us along the way.

The bright spot in all of this is that we have built a truly beautiful building that we know will be an enhancement to the community. We're currently in talks with other craft breweries to lease this space out, and we are committed to bringing in a high quality operator who will bring terrific beer and food to Yorktown.

Thank you, thank you from the bottom of our hearts for bearing with us. We know Yorktown is thirsty! We are excited for the lucky brewery that gets to call Yorktown and our building home, and we hope you'll give them as much love and support as you've given to us.

Love,

Beale's
