Last night (June 11, 2024), 19 personnel from four departments on the Virginia Peninsula graduated from the Hampton Roads Fire Academy (HRFA) as Class #63. HRFA is a rigorous, mentally and physically demanding training program for basic firefighter training. Most career firefighters in Hampton Roads are assigned to attend and complete this cooperative regional initiative. This particular recruit class was coordinated by Hampton, with staff assigned from each of the participating departments. Among the graduates were six personnel from the York County Department of Fire and Life Safety
