Register by October 1 to secure your spot—advance registration is required, and no payments will be accepted at the door.

Extension Volunteers Named Outstanding Volunteer Organization of the Year

At last month's Board of Supervisors meeting, Virginia Cooperative Extension volunteers were honored as York County's Outstanding Volunteer Organization of the Year! In 2024, York/Poquoson Extension volunteers contributed over 22,000 hours of service as part of the County's 1,838 volunteers who gave a combined 66,699 hours—valued at more than $2.3 million. From 4-H Youth Development and Master Gardener Learning Gardens to environmental education and school garden programs, these volunteers enrich our community through leadership, stewardship, and hands-on learning. York County proudly recognizes their dedication and the lasting impact they make every day.
